“ My condolences to Reed's family. He was a bright, enthusiastic, and kind student in my Russian class last spring at KU. He was so thoughtful in how he approached learning a very difficult language, and I know that his eternally positive attitude and wonderful sense of humor impacted his classmates and instructors for the better. The Rankin family is in my thoughts.

“ I always enjoyed his big wave when he was driving the 6715 JD tractor at the farm. I would often see Reed tooling down the farm road hoping to spot an armadillo. The evidence of his successful hunts were everywhere from one field to another. A big young man with a big heart, big smile and always seemed eager to learn. He is removed from us here, but not gone or forgotten.....Longton family friend, Joe Nichols

“ I was a teacher of Reed's his senior year. Him and I frequently shared laughs about things happening in the news and he would even email me memes about political topics he thought I'd like. Haven't connected with him since then, but I really enjoyed him as a student. Sending my sincerest sympathies to the family.

“ Reed was a student in my class for one semester. I loved his perspective and wit. I remember him towering over me whenever he stood up. He had a wonderful heart and brilliant mind.

“ Watching you and your siblings was such a fun adventure. I thoroughly enjoyed spending those summers and weekends with you and your family. From teaching you how to ride a bike to you teaching me how to make hamburger helper stroganoff, we really had so much fun. I remember the time we decided we would make guacamole so we looked up a recipe and went to the store to get ingredients. We threw all the ingredients in the blender and later found out that the ripeness of the avocados mattered and our hard chunky guacamole was not what we hoped for. I was amazed at your interest in the History channel and your ability to recall all sorts of information. The weapons, transportation, locations and all the minor details of war and various historical things that have taken place blew me away. You loved the history channel so much that when we decided to limit everyone's t.v. time to 30 minutes, you were going to take out the batteries in the remote during Jeanette's time so you could have a longer amount and she couldn't change the channel. I can remember telling you that was cheating and I will never forget your response. You said "I thought cheating only happened in games and marriages". I died laughing and still think about it and laugh because you were so witty. You were very kind and gentle, especially to your dogs at the time (Queenie especially). I have enjoyed watching you from afar succeeding at life like I knew you always would. My thoughts and prayers go to your family, you will be missed dearly.

“ Jeanne and family, Uncle Craig and I are very saddened by the news of Reed's death. While no one can understand or begin to comprehend such a tragedy, we pray that God will comfort you and guide you through this difficult time. "The Lord is my strength and salvation " no matter what situation comes our way. We have missed you children and the family we once knew. May God give you strength day by day.

With love, Craig and Anna
