“ I have many memories of my dad that will be with me forever here is one that will be forever remembered on a Sunday; He didn't take phone calls on Sundays during the drag races however that didn't mean he couldn't call you and tell you what channel to turn your receiver to and tell you what was going on while you reminded him we already have it on ESPN or SPEED and we don't have the same channel line up as you do. He really wanted to see 4 cars go down the track at once. As all of you that knew him knew he was a gossip. I loved to call him and vent my problems to him and after he would give me the best fatherly advice or get to ranting with me about the same issues he would make me laugh by telling me about so and so and what was going on in Severy. It was hard for us to move away and he knew that but he also understood why we did. He taught John to hunt for gold and they was planning a big expedition when he turned 18. Dad I love you and forever you will be in my heart and mind there will not be a day goes by that I won't think of you.

“ All of my childhood memories are fill with my grandpa. I remember everything about him. I love and will always miss him. He was the best grandpa a girl could ask for. A memory that recently arose from my subconscious was when I would "run away" from my parents and we would listen to Paul Harvey and eat popsicles, and basically I would terroize his house but he never minded. I would ride my trike that still in my room at his house and stand on top of my shopping cart that is also and scream at the top of my lungs CITRICAL this being one of Paul Harvey's main sponsors I heard it a lot and never knew what it was. My grandpa also gave me taught me about NHRA racing and of course his time on the reservation. He had the best stories even if you had no idea who he was talking about he could always descride "that good old boy". He was known as the Candy Man to many of the children in Severy; almost all of my friends from there know exactly who he is when I say the Candy Man. He always had a ear to listen and advice to give even if you didnt think you needed it he added his two sense. I called him almost every week especailly when I was still at K-State where most of our discussion turned to football as everyone knows he was a HUGE OU fan, but he was I think secretly becoming a KSU fan. I learned so my from grandpa and I will truely miss him!

“ My thought and prayers are with you all during this time. Don was a great neighbor and my kids called him "The Candy Man". All the kids in the neighborhood knew they could get candy from him. When I worked at Jct. Insurance he would come in almost daily to read the paper or make a phone call. My favorite memory of him was when I was preparing for a mission trip to Mexico, and he was concerned I was going to an area where there was people being kidnapped. He told me to have someone back in the states with lots of money that could come get me. I told him I was taking his number and just smiled. I think that caught him off guard and he gave me a look I will never forget.
