“ I remember JeanMarie Dancer as a special friend when she lived in SanLuis Obispo. We both did massage at 1171 Toro st and traded our work with on another regularly. We also enjoyed celebrations together like new moon and full moons. She turned me on to using essential oils(young living oils) which was especially good for reflexology on the feet I always loved sharing time with that little “bug”. She was so sharing of her time and love and playfulness Wherever she went she made friends and was a delight to be with. Enjoy this next adventure dear friend 🤔💕

I recall going to visit her on Toro St. In SLO town as we would foundly call it. Our connection started in the mid 70's after my separation from the military. We did a few college plays together. She had a delightful little place on the Hills Dairy Ranch. When I moved to LA from Barstow to continue theater studies, she and a few other friends would make the drive to see our productions. We remained good friends over the years and am so grateful that I was able to make a roadtrip to see her just prior to her leaving us. She was one of a kind.

“ It was quite when by chance that Jeanmarie approached me on a very rainy, windy day at Universal Studios City Walk. I am a Tour Director who left her group to do the park, while I camped with my research materials in a nearby restaurant. While I was sprawled with my books and papers, Jeanmarie came to my table and asked if I were a Tour Director. We talked away the hours as our groups faced the elements. I told her I was getting ready for a student tour the next day. As luck would have it, I was the step-on guide for HER group!!

She visited me at my home in Redondo Beach for a few days several years ago and once we were in D.C. together and had a drink for her birthday. Not much physical contact, but our phone calls were priceless...we took off right where we had ended!

She was a dear friend and always a loving, caring, supportive voice...usually when I needed to hear it most!!!

Rest In Peace, dear friend from your California buddy, Suzanne!

“ Jeanmarie the free spirit who you just had to like. We did some exercises together in the Toronto gym to keep our bodies moving. Visited off and on when we met and shared some cancer stories as we both were facing that. She always had a smile to share and made you feel very important. Will miss seeing her posts on facebook because she loved posting different pictures of places and things as well as her kitty. May she rest in peace.

I loved the photos she posted on Facebook. She managed to capture the essential beauty of a tree or cloud or flower or outstretched hand. Rest in peace, friend.
