Kaden you have touched so many lives and we all fell in love with you at first sight !! Your mommy and daddy were so happy in all the pictures that I seen you and them together in. Then there was your grandma's and grandpa's and all the rest of your family at the hospital with you and there was so love in that room!! Then you had all the rest of the family stuck so far away and we checked facebook constantly to find the newest updates on you. We all prayed so hard for you and you were a good little fighter but God wanted you back and you have taught all of us a lesson. We need to say we love you more often, give extra hugs and kisses because we never know when we have to say goodbye! Your mommy choose to give you life and even if it was for a minute she knew she did the right thing, and sometimes we don't understand why God does the things he does but everything happens for a reason and that God doesn't give us more than we can handle. It may be hard to see the purpose of him taking you so soon but one day your mom and dad will figure that out what God's reason was for taking you home so soon. You brought family together that in this busy world we forget to stop long enough to spend time with the ones we love the most..maybe your purpose was to bring the family all together? I don't know the answers but I do know when I see your family I will show them a smile and ask them if they are doing okay? Please don't anyone forget Kaden's mommy and daddy and the rest of his family after tomorrow ends and we all go back to our busy lives, and they won't have everyone around with all that love gone is probably going to be the hardest days that lay ahead. I promise you Kaden I will never forget your family and will give my smile and honestly want to know how they are, because I really love them with all my heart!!
