“ Ramona and Zeke always sat together in the dining room at Railside. (Zeke's mom also sat at their same table). One day Ramona was teasing with Zeke, and she put her fingers in her water glass and threw water on Zeke. Zeke's mom got really angry at Ramona because she was protecting her son! Zeke had to convince her that Ramona was only playing!!! At that moment he had to be the PEACEMAKER!!!

Ramona and Zeke had a "Special" bond and would always say to each other "See you later alligator" and "After while crocodile". Ramona gave Zeke a wall plaque that said, "SEE YOU LATER ALLIGATOR".

Zeke also really enjoyed Ramona's visit to the hospital when he had to stay in the hospital for 3 weeks. This visit cheered both of them up because of their "Special" bond!

“ How can someone who loved her aunt so much choose only one memory? I can't! There are so many...being her flower girl...anxiously awaiting her visits home to Louisiana...making the birth of her first daughter a bit interesting (long story)...among only a few. Aunt Ramona was so special and loved her family with every ounce of her being. I am so blessed to have been on the receiving end of that love. I will miss my aunt so very much but have those memories to bring a smile to my face every time I think of her. Knowing she has been reunited with Uncle Elwin, Grandma and Grandpa Hicks and all of her siblings will bring a peace that will surpass the pain of no longer having her here with us. God be with you, Jim, Cindy and Rhonda! We now have another precious angel watching over us all! Much love and peace to all of you!
