“ Remembering Kevin was easy for me. Kevin and I spent a good deal of time together playing basketball as a member of a team which we founded as an Intramural team, called the Graunts, that achieved second place that year. What the name stood for... nobody knew, but during the time we spent playing together, on and off the court, during my ninth grade year at Royster Chanute middle school, we had a few laughs together, and had a tremendous amount of fun. I knew Kevin was light-hearted, fun to be around, genuine to the core person. I spent most of my time working the weekly school newspaper, gathering stories, working publications, and worked out the stress of journalism with Kevin. These were a fond distraction at the time, and now fond memories. He and his sister Dorinda, who I also shared daily school together, are always in my Wonder Years' memories, with smiles and affection. He will be fondly missed. My prayers to all the Gormley family. “ ToAllie andFamily. I just heard about Kevin and I am so sorry. Kevin, Randy and James used to hang out together whenever you and Joe came up to whitecloud. Those were the some of the great times of my life. Mona and I live close to whitecloud and recently we were at grampas old store and I noticed that Kevin and Randy had carved their names on the front of the store. I smiled all the way home. Our thoughts and prayers are with your family. Doug and Ramona McNutt.

“ Kevin built our "addition" on in 2005ish; after that we always thought of him as a friend. The guy had "a heart of gold". He would do what he could to help u out at anytime. I remember a few times he would sit at in our van with our then toddler so I wouldn't have to get her out in the heat . :) He always had a smile and was bubbly or would try to "fake" it if he wasn't feeling "bubbly" that day. :) He was a talented contractor. He was very proud of his family and especially his daughters. I felt like we personally knew his daughters back then :) Such a great guy. The last time we visited a few months or longer he had started going to church. We were so proud of him. He is definitely going to be missed in Chanute.
