“ Steve was a fantastic and amazing friend! Anyone who knew really knew Steve knew his love and passion for music. It wasn't just his oxygen, it was his life force! He shared with me about attending his first Chicago concert ever with his parents, when he was six years old. From that day on, he was hooked! He wasn't just passionate about the art of music, he was a savant when it came to countless bands, performers, their talents, their songs, and even their albums. His love for his children and the people in his life ran just as deep, as his love for music. I'm going to miss my friend, so much! But, it eases my heart to know that he's reunited again with his baby boy, and knowing the musicians he's going to get to be front row and center of, for all of those heavenly concerts.
